top silver quite classic in style, others are fun but gangly, with good attributes along with some characters that hold them out of higher awards, still a young class with approach to winemaking

Class 16A Comments:

judges found that whilst some wines strayed into more complex structured away from 'youthful, fresh and juicy' - they were just so good. a great class - so many really strong wines. If improving the breed of Sangiovese was the initial focus of this show, then this class alone kicks that goal

Wow. A very difficult class due to stylistic differences. Some lovely, varietal examples, with makers letting the grape shine, rather than muddling it with oak and extract.

Class 21 Comments:

Variable class, best wines showed ripe fruit and rich sweet tannins with controlled oak. Important to pick on ripeness and not allow overripe and porty or green and herbal notes. Tannin management crucial with this variety, be gentle....!

A variety that's on its own shows the potential for high extract and high potential alcohol. It's deep colour and avert acidity show it's strength as a blending variety. On its own the wines lacked a certain plushness and drink ability and deft handling of the phenolics maybe a watch out for this variety.

Class 32B Comments:

A rollercoaster ride to judge. Some wines seem more a product of circumstance, while the better wines have purpose. A good host rate of medals in a dichotomous class.

Class 32C Comments:

a mixed bag, would be great to see a Cab Franc class of its' own next year, care needs to be taken with entry with regards to Iberian blends i.e. if your wine is full bodied with lots of tannin or medium bodied.

Class 32D Comments:

Light and shade, and the the light shined so bright. Golds vibrant and intense with fruit to the fore. Protect the fruit and express it, non medal wines failed to do this.

Class 33 Comments:

Awarded wines were fresh and juicy textural, and deliciously balanced. Top wines were great examples of the diversity of the style. A number of wines were well made and well balanced just lacked a little intensity and definition. Watch outs, acid sugar balance and sulphide which if handled well can be complexing but shouldn't mask the fruit.

Class 34 Comments:

Reward wines fresh bright and balanced. A lot of wines which disappointed exhibited wine faults and lacked attention to style.
